If this year's plan is approved, a panel of three federal judges will decide if lawmakers must face another election this fall in the new districts.

The new plan calls for Compretta's present district to give up six voting precincts, Kiln East and West, Fenton, Diamondhead, Dedeaux and Catahoula, which will be incorporated into Dis-

Crane Creek and Standard; Salem and Steep Hollow in Pearl River County; New Hope, East Orange Grove, West Lyman and East Saucier, and parts of West Saucier and West Orange Grove in Harrison County.

Districts were redrawn based on population shifts reflected by the 1990 Census. Each district has approximately 21,000 residents.

A representative from District 93 will increase Coast representation to 18 members.

"Mukie," her mother, Linda Golden, explained, "began displaying more movement this past November when she returned home following eight months of hospitalization."

Golden was struck by a car, one year ago next month. The accident happened along Highway 90 near Easterbrook Street in Bay St. Louis as the child was crossing in front of oncoming Golden suffered damage to the brain and two cardiac arrests as a result of the impact. Linda Golden said the doctors told her Mukie would have to relearn everything, like a newborn baby.

"Though Mukie is physically seven years old," Linda Golden stated, "she is mentally on the level of a six-month-old. She coos and gurgles. She smiles and tries to move her arms in response. I have been told, that the type of injuries Mukie suffered, are slow in recovering.

The part of her brain that tells her body to move, isn't doing that, so we must work to help remind it."

Lisa Barnes, a therapist with South Mississippi Home Health Association visits Golden once a week to lift and stretch her body. Reminding those unmoving muscles how to function.

Golden also has a speech therapist, and she travels to Gulfport where she receives occupational therapy at Sun Center Coast Rehabilitation.

Barnes said her goal is to promote improvement in Golden's gross motor control. "For now, Mukie is learning how to roll over, hold her head and back up straight, to sit erect.

"Her muscle tone is stiff and abnormal. The exercises and positions we practice are to try to normalize the muscle tone."

Golden has beautiful large dark brown eyes which are traced with finely curled lashes. These eyes opened to the world on the third day she lay in the intensive care unit at Öschner Hospital in New Orleans. In these eyes, the pain of movement and laughter of love are

We sure miss Joe in our ceramic and framing classes, as well as just as a super person. We had a special Mass for him here last week, and many of his senior friends could honor his memory at that time.

Joe gave us so much of his time, we won't be able to replace him; but we do need another ceramic teacher. If you know of anyone who is interested in working four hours a day teaching, please tell them to apply through the Mississippi Employment Agency out on Longfellow, or call us.

We also need volunteer help in our framing class. Classes meet on Wednesday and Friday afternoons in Room 4.

Sometimes, a little pressure can be a very good thing.

To a patient who needs intensive healing of wounds, a little extra pressure can mean the difference between healing in a matter of weeks rather than a matter of months -- or perhaps never at all. It is with this in mind that Memorial proudly announces the addition of hyperbaric oxygen treatment to its host of specialized medical services. Hyperbaric oxygen therapy provides a pressurized environment in which patients breathe high levels of oxygen to speed healing of wounds, infections and other disorders. LETTERS TO .. THE EDITOR

We are given the right to express our opinion

Dear Editor:

I understood the public hearing on Mon., Feb. 3, was to address the Bay St. Louis Council on a zoning amendment involving the property near the Bay bridge site.

This gave citizens a right to express their support or disapproval of the zoning change.

I believe the purpose of the hearing was to let the Council know how I, and others felt, and I offered my personal opinion.

As far as gaming, I think it will create some jobs for the area, and I am not opposed to controlled gaming. As citizens, we have a right to protect the historical character of our community.
I know I will not be able to afford to frequent any gaming establishments, because as a citizen, I feel it is more important for me to take care of my bills first.

The First Amendment states that, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.'

I think the First Amendment gives me, and you, the right to express our opinions.

Thank you,

Geraldine Lang Hay St. Louis

Weidman was elected to guard taxpayer money

To the Editor, In 'Letters to the Editor,' published Feb. 13, Waveland Mayor Stella Frilot was praised for her patience because Alderman Stan Weidman has had the audacity to question the expenditures of taxpayer money. When voting for an alderman, I was under the impression that you were trying to elect an honest person who would look out for the expenditures of your tax dollars just as if it were his own money. Alderman Weidman questions where each tax dollar is spent. He questions why people are paid money from tax revenues because that is his job. He questions when Mayor Frilot places appointments on the docket and refuses to divulge their salaries, their hours, or even if there is money in the budget to hire them. He questions why stipends are paid out of tax dollars when they were never brought up, much less approved. He is doing the honest job he was elected to do, and Mayor Stella Frilot can't

Mayor Frilot has apparently made a strong effort to see that her actions are not questioned in any way. An example of this is the very short period of time that the aldermen receive the docket before meetings. Usually there is only one hour for the aldermen to ask questions about expenditures before the meetings, and I understand

Mayor Frilot does not allow many questions during this time. Perhaps this is because Mayor Frilot remembers that she constantly harrassed former Mayor Longo when she was an alderman. At least he made sure that the dockets were given to the aldermen in plenty of time to investigate the

Thank goodness one alderman has the courage to stand up for the taxpayers and question expenditures on the docket whether they be $5 or $5,000. Keep up the good work, Alderman Weidman. James Maness

Weidman is at odds with everyone

On Thursday, February 6, 1992, the paper ram a front page article which suggested Waveland Alderman Weidman was at odds with Mayor Frilot. Reading through the article, however, it was clear that Alderman Weidman is at odds with everybody and everything.

Almost every vote of the Waveland Board of Aldermen is reported as 3-1, with Weidman casting the dissenting vote-so, he is at odds with his fellow board members on virtually Weidman may wish to conduct his private life at odds with everyone around him; but, as a public servant, he has to do bet-ter. He should be aware that the voters who put him in office are at odds with him and his behavior.

If he doesn't change his ways, the odds are that he'll never be elected to anything ever again.

Simply Southern, Weaver's Frame Shop nominated for state awards

Special to the Echo The Main Street-Bay St. Louis Project nominated Simply Southern, Limited and Weaver's Frame Shop and Gallery for special awards during the Mississippi Downtown Development Association annual meeting in Columbus, Feb. 18.

Simply Southern, Ltd., 144 Main Street, was nominated for a promotion category award. Exterior and interior displays, point of purchase displays, wrapping paper, ribbon, counter cards, stationery, advertisements, and a variety of other points are part of the criteria considered for the award.

"Simply Southern, Ltd. is the ideal retailer of the '90's. We were very proud to nominate this shop for the promotion award," said project manager Mike Cuevas.

"Considerable efforts are made to make shopping at Simply Southern an event, rather than a curiosity or a necessity. Creative exterior decorations for the change of shopping seasons entice the consumer. Interior displays play to all the senses. Gift wrap is made from recycled paper, and their ribbon is 100 percent

"The staff is well trained in hospitality, product promotion and local referrals," said Cuevas. The shop is owned by Yancy Pogue.

Weaver's Frame Shop and Gallery was nominated for a special award for the opening of the Bay Saint Louis Room, which features the art work of local artists. The exhibits rotate frequently and feature multimedias and style.

"Renee Weaver, gallery owner, has really grown in her chosen profession. Opening the gallery was a natural extension. The exhibits consist of what appears to be the best of diverse styles. From "Frames 'n Things,' a conglomerate of merchandise, Weaver's Frame Studio and Gallery features a sophisticated selection of art work, French and decorative matting and an extensive line of frame moldings from which to choose and excellent service to the Bay St. Louis customer and visitor," stated Cuevas.

"The growth and change of the business is what makes it eligible for the special award."

"I submitted these two nominations with pride. They have earned special recognition,' concluded Cuevas.

Driver's license services are available in Hancock County on Tuesdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis. The telephone number is 467-0346. The community handouts may be obtained at any of the three branches of the Hancock County Library System: City-County Public Library, Highway 90, Bay St. Louis; Waveland Library, Coleman Avenue; or Kiln Library, Hwy. 603.

It is an election year: The White House is beset by economic problems and , U.S. farmers are outraged by federal agrarian policies. Grover Cleveland is elected President in a stunning upset over incumbent Benjamin Harrison and the percapita IRS tax is less than $2.50.

In Bay St. Louis the Mayor and Board of Aldermen met in regular session and directed the street commissioner to initiate construction of the new street Dunbar from Main Street to the beach. Marshall George Maynard sold three billy goats at auction. They had been arrested as nuisances to the town and were knocked down cheap.

American Legion Auxiliary

The monthly ice cream and cake party, sponsored by Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139, for veterans in the Gulfport VA Hospital was Tuesday, Jan. 28.
Shirley Clemons, VAVS chairman, thanked Pat Gillan and Oris

Planchard for their contribution of brownies. Some 68 veterans participated.

The monthly meeting of the auxiliary was Monday, Feb. 10. President Janet Aime opened the meeting; color-bearers, Roslyn Weathers and Hazel Wohlschlegel advanced the colors, and chaplain Ursula Favre read opening prayers. A moment of silent prayer was observed for deceased members.

Aime led members in the Pledge of Allegiance followed by the Secretary Jeanette Ladner called the roll of officers and read minutes of the previous meeting. Treasurer Bobbye Tomlinson gave a report on the financial status of the auxiliary.

Reports from various committees included: -Chaplain Ursula Favre told of sympathy and get-well cards that were sent to members and asked the help of members to let her know of anyone needing these messages. -Community service co-chairmen Roslyn Weathers and Oris Planchard told of their visits to the Hotel Reed Nursing Center and spoke of how much the residents enjoy the activity. They requested the members to call on them when they 'clean out their closets.' -Emergency fund chairman Oris Planchard reported things were slow at the present time and hoped for a better future. -Membership chairman Mattie North announced the names of new members and noted the membership goal was reached. -Poppy chairman Susan Piazza said the Poppy drive will take place the early part of April. There will be a bonco party on Wednesday, March 11.

Promise her anything, but give her chocolate-or him, for 4 eggs 1/4 tsp. salt that matter-if your sweetheart's tastes are anything like that of all of the divided chocolate-lovers on the face of the earth!

Chocolate is the No. 1 choice of a horde of chocolate devotees, whatever the season and the occasion, I am sure; I almost think that chocolate even runs in my veins! And, if you're cooking up a special dessert for the family or friends, you'll not go wrong with chocolate. Unless, of course, someone is allergic to chocolate—and that's a fate I wouldn't wish for anyone!

As for myself, I shall be even more greedy and combine my two favorite flavors in this: CHOCOLATE PECAN PIE

1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted

1 cup sugar 1 cup light corn syrup 1/4 cup cocoa

1 cup plus chopped pecans,

1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell Combine the butter, corn syrup, sugar and cocoa in a heavy saucepan, and cook over low heat, stirring the while, until sugar dissolves. Let it cook slightly, before adding the eggs, vanilla and salt, stirring well together. Stir in a half cup of the pecans, then pour the filling into the pie shell. Top with the remaining half cup (or bit more) of pecans; at this point I like to scatter pecan halves across the top, as well. Bake in a 325-degree oven for 50 minutes, perhaps for five minutes longer if

I also like to make up this recipe in tiny tart shells or pastry cups for the tea tray or for snack time.

I'm also quite fond of chocolate cheesecake and other chocolate treats, so I splurged the other day on a box of fresh strawberrries and dipped them in chocolate for good measure. (Copyright, 1992, Katharine D. M. Caire)

Michael Jackson is dangerous

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Music has a power unparalleled by any other medium of communication. The spoken or written word, of course, is mightier than the sword or any weapon or tool of persuasion. coercion or even death. Music's power is derived from combining that word with melody, beat and rhythm. Enter Michael Jackson, onetime child prodigy of song, impresario of dance, improviser of sound, wordsmith of chic. In terms of megabucks and a Pied Piper effect on the very young, no one has ever used the unparalleled power of music the way

Michael Jackson does. We marvel that a baseball player can make over four million dollars a year, but Michael can do that within the space of several weeks. Not even a heavyweight boxing champion, who may haul down $30 million for a special match, comes close to what Michael can do over the course of a year.

First there was "Thriller," the blockbuster album of 1982, followed by the explosive "Bad" in 1987. Michael sang and danced all the way to the bank.

As the latest monster album, 'Dangerous," hit the stores pointing toward Christmas of 1991, record shops were humming with 'cha-ching' sounds of customers being rung up.

Jackson hype was unmistakably plastered wherever one turned. Periodicals, newspapers and plain billboards were mere complements to flashy neon and laser displays.

Contrary to their intention, even irate callers on radio talk shows inflated the hype when they complained of Michael's frequent grabbing of his crotch and smashing windows in "Dangerous." The protests were free advertisement.

Naturally, all of this financial bonanza was made possible through the magic draw and power of music, cannily crafted and executed by a master of the art. Where Michael, the Pied Piper, goes, people, especially children, follow.

Enter the dangerous Michael Jackson. Even more than his latest album, Michael is dangerous, not because he is evil. but because he has such a formidable, adoring following of children and adolescents who are influenced by his quirks.

Not that many of them will be inclined to imitate much or any of what he does. The real problem lies in their absorbing a way of thinking about themselves, an attitude toward his hair or his negroid features, since he has chosen to change all of them radically through cosmetic sculpting.

Black History Month is not just for blacks. It is for all peoples anywhere, anytime. Its message: be thankful for and proud of your roots, your looks and your culture.

Kirkwood starts counseling ministry

BY TRACI BONNEY

nd be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God. (Romans 12:2)

June Kirkwood has seen firsthand some of the tolls that life can take on a person's spirit, mind and emotions, and she wants to help people recover from their traumas.

A Waveland resident of 25 years, she has counseled many people in her church and the community for several years now. An ordained minister, she worked for nine years as volunteer chaplain at Parchman state penitentiary, and has also operated a local jail ministry.

She and other women who have been trained in the area of the healing of the inner person are founding the Renewal Fellowship outreach of Truth and Freedom Ministries, a free-ofcharge Biblically-based counseling service.

June Kirkwood

"In my counseling, I have been helping people get off habits, away from suicide," Kirkwood said.

"I spent 19 years in prison ministry and four in counseling prior to this. You learn to listen."

She said the service is not just for Christians; it's for anyone who needs help.

"Being an ordained minister, though, I go strictly by the Word of God. There's no hypnosis involved.

The counseling covers many issues, including suicide, forgiving others and receiving God's forgiveness, loneliness, stress, fear, addictions, discouragement and feelings of hurt and guilt. Interpretations of dreams are also part of the counseling when needed.

"Ninety-nine percent of all our dreams are from God." Kirkwood commented. "They can be very important to a person, so it is important that they are interpreted properly."

In addition to counseling, Renewal Fellowship offers the services of a video viewing library. Kirkwood has a number of videos on many different subjects, including those she deals with in counseling.

These videos can be shown privately to people being counseled, as well as to church and other groups.

Anyone in need of the services of Renewal Fellowship may call 467-1014. There are no fees; the service is entirely supported by funds from donors.
